The King Country Te Rohe Potae is a very distinct region with a very historical background. Yet in the media and in many people's minds who do not live there it is often referred to or regarded as part of the Waikato. This is not correct. I have spoken to several people in The King Country and they want this situation to change. I have written a play called The Wellspring of Tears. It starts in The King Country. I have an interest in getting this lack of knowledge improved One of the easiest ways to raise the profile of the region is to have large signs on all the roads leading into the King Country which state that this is the border. This clearly a role for the Councils in the region. With this greater awareness there are some opportunities to increase visitor number to places like Te Kuiti.
