

Waitomo District Library provides free computing and internet access via the Aotearoa People's Network Kaharoa (APNK).

APNK PCs are available for customer use and are installed with a range of software; Microsoft Word, Open Office, Internet Explorer, Firefox, Chrome, Skype, Adobe Acrobat Reader and other programs. Each APNK PC has a DVD and CD drive, USB ports, memory card slots, a webcam and a headset.

There are four PCs for public use available on a first come first served basis, with a session limit of 30 minutes per customer.

There is also free wifi available during library open hours.

When using the Library computers, you should not:

- Attempt to violate our computer system security
- Do anything illegal, infringe copyright or view offensive material
- Disturb other people's use of the Library

Aotearoa People's Network Kaharoa reserves the right to prevent access to objectionable material.

The Aotearoa People's Network Kaharoa is a collaborative project between the National Library of New Zealand and Waitomo District Library
